

Virtual Training: Best Practices for Serving Survivors of Human Trafficking

Wednesday August 2, 2023
1:00 pm - 2:30 pm EST via Zoom

As advocates for survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault, how can we also identify if someone is experiencing human trafficking? This training will help participants develop skills to recognize the elements of human trafficking and remain survivor centered in their advocacy. Participants can expect to gain practical knowledge on how to build supportive and empowering environments for survivors of human trafficking.

Objectives

Through this training participants will:

1. Gain or refresh knowledge on intersectionality of survivors of human trafficking.
2. Gain a basic understanding of legal definitions and other technical elements to recognize human trafficking.
3. Learn strategies to provide services/resources for survivors experiencing human trafficking.

Audience

This an introductory level training designed to provide foundational education on terminology, technical elements, and advocacy. Those who may find this training beneficial are advocates who have no or limited training and/or experience working with survivors of human trafficking.
