

conference presenters

have this to say!

MCEDSV 2024
ANNUAL CONFERENCE
MAY 22-23, 2024

Register to attend

Click presenter images to hear what they have to say about the conference!

CHÉREE THOMAS & MERKEB YOHANNES

*Michigan Coalition to End Domestic and Sexual Violence (MCEDSV)
How Black is Black original Podcast*

ASHLEIGH PELTO

*Greater Boston Legal Services
Coerced Criminality - The Need for Criminal Record Relief for Survivors*

*Register
Now*

Avoid late fees. Register by May 8!

Scan QR code for agenda

EMILY BERNATH, Author

Empowering Survivors to Use Their Voice - Changing the Narrative on Sexual Assault Going Unreported

ASHIA WILSON & LISA CHAPMAN

Michigan Coalition Against Homelessness

Why Advocacy by Persons with Lived Experience is Brave, Fierce, and Essential

PAIGE ALLIA

Hope Shores Alliance

Fierce Advocacy, Fierce Healing - Cultivating Dynamic Pathways to Healing & Prevention

"If you like music, laughter, and are willing to get a little bit vulnerable with me, join me in being fiercely brave together as we cultivate opportunity for healing and change across our communities."

We are thrilled to share this media with you. However, we understand that not all video file types may seamlessly integrate with the diverse range of devices and software used by viewers. If you encounter difficulty accessing any videos or links, we sincerely apologize, and please reach us registrations@mcedsv.org, and let us assist and provide what you're looking for! Thank you!

ANDY GROSSMEYER & MARGARET AVERY

Equality Michigan

Navigating the Intersection of Gender Identity and Violence

Note: this video is feeling sassy and is only able to be included as an attachment in the original email announcement. If you can't locate it, please email us to request it at registrations@mcedsv.org - we'll send it right on over! :)

SABRINA BRONNI & MAYA MOKH

*Arab Community Center for Economic and Social Services
(ACCESS)*

Unveiling Bravery a Trauma Informed Approach to Empower Survivors of Violence

*Register
Now*

Avoid late fees. Register by May 8!

Scan QR code for agenda